4 WHERE IS YOUR PERSONAL DATA COLLECTED?

Personal data is collected through your use of the Website, from the form you complete when you register as a member on the Website, or from the information you provide to the Hotel in connection with your tenancy.

5 HOW THE HOTEL USES YOUR PERSONAL DATA

The Hotel will use the personal data you provide to us or that the Hotel collects through your use of the Website for the following purposes:

- i) to fulfil an agreement with you, i.e. to offer you accommodation or lease of premises;
- ii) to enable you to book accommodation or submit a lease application directly from the Website;
- iii) to improve our services, the content of the Website and other relevant platforms, for example by collecting and processing data for internal statistical purposes, administration and marketing of the Hotel. This includes identifying general utility models to enable the Hotel to improve its services and the Website;
- iv) to respond to your questions and inquiries;
- v) to provide you with information of new and other services offered by the Hotel;
- vi) to inform you about amendments of this privacy policy;
- vii) for examinations of and protection against breaches of this privacy policy, criminal offences, fraud and potential threats against our or other persons legal rights;
- viii) to comply with applicable laws and regulations;
- ix) for any other purpose either described in this privacy policy, or for which the Hotel will notify you specifically at the time of collection or upon obtaining your consent, or as permitted or required by law, rule, regulation or any other legal process.

6 CONSENT AND OTHER LEGAL BASIS' FOR PROCESSING OF PERSONAL DATA

In order to process your personal data, the Hotel requires your consent or other legal basis. Consent can be given upon request from the Hotel, or by voluntarily giving the Hotel the information through a lease application, the Website or other relevant platforms for the Hotel.

You can withdraw your consent at any time by sending an email to the Hotel, or by deleting your profile on the Website (see section 10). Note that certain services provided through the Website, such as booking accommodation or leasing premises, is dependent on the processing of certain information regarding the customer, and that a withdrawal of consent may involve that the user will not be able to undertake such bookings or leasing through the Website.

Other legal basis for processing can be such processing of personal data that is necessary for the Hotel to comply with all applicable rules and regulations to which the Hotel is subject, e.g. statutory rules related to storage for accounting purposes.

Your personal data will not be stored for a longer period than necessary for the Hotel to fulfil the abovementioned purposes.

7 DISCLOSURE TO THIRD PARTIES

The Hotel may disclose your personal data to suppliers and sub-suppliers who perform services for the Hotel, to enable the Hotel to provide you with services. (the Hotel may for example make use of suppliers for hosting of the Website, to facilitate contact with customers via email or SMS, payments systems etc.) Suppliers and sub-suppliers may only use your personal data for the purposes the data was collected for, and to perform its assignments. Any such disclosing of personal data to suppliers and sub-suppliers will be governed by, and done in accordance with, a data processor agreement.

The Hotel will not transfer, sell, rent or exchange personally identifiable information with any third party in a way that is not provided for in this privacy policy without your express consent, unless such obligation is imposed by law or binding court order, or when necessary in a business transaction.

8 PROTECTION OF YOUR DATA

The Hotel takes the privacy rights of our users seriously and have taken reasonable steps to protect the user's privacy, including physical, technical and organisational measures, to prevent loss, alterations, theft and unauthorized access to information stored and otherwise processed by the Hotel.

The Website may include links to other third party sites. These third-party sites have their own privacy policies that determines how the third-party site is operated and how personal data is collected and processed. If you submit personal information to any of these third-party sites, your information is governed by their privacy policies. The Hotel takes no responsibility for such third-party sites, how they are operated and how they process your personal data. The Hotel recommends that you familiarize yourself with such third-party sites' privacy policies and terms of use when visiting and using such sites.

10 YOUR RIGHTS

You have the right to require access to the personal data the Hotel has collected about you. If you have registered a member profile on the Website, you can easily log into your profile on the Website and correct errors in the personal data that is stored there, or delete your member profile.

You have the right to demand your personal data deleted at any time. Upon such an inquiry, all your personal data will be deleted, unless statutory obligations or legitimate interests require continued storage. Anonymized information, i.e. information that cannot be linked to you, may be subject to continued storage.

If you want to exercise your right to:

- i) get information about what personal data the Hotel has registered on you;
- ii) change or update the stored data and correct any errors in that data;
- iii) request that unnecessary data is erased;
- iv) stop receiving emails from us, such as newsletters and similar;
- v) withdraw your consent to the collection, processing, use or disclosure of your personal data to third parties;
- vi) request information about your right to data portability, i.e. your right to obtain, reuse and transfer personal data provided to the Hotel to another IT environment;

you should contact the Hotel via the contact information stipulated above in section 1.

If you believe that our processing of your personal data infringes relevant data protection regulations, you are entitled to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority of your habitual residence, place of work or place of the alleged infringement, or other relevant supervisory authority. In Norway, this is Datatilsynet.

11 MODIFICATIONS TO THE PRIVACY POLICY

The Hotel reserves the right to modify this privacy policy from time to time. The most recent revision shall supersede any earlier versions. The current version of the privacy policy will be available at the Website at all times. The Hotel will notify the user of any changes to the privacy policy that will require your consent.

By using the Hotel's services, you accept electronic information about and publication of this privacy policy on the Website, and you consent to that electronic information about and publication of revised versions of this privacy policy on the Website is valid as a notification to you.
